Course Overview

Forex trading is a serious competition between two sides where there is always a winner and a loser. To be successful in trading the Forex markets, you must have an "edge". This course delivers the strategic edge by combining powerful skill building lessons and practice market trading sessions. It will provide participants with a superior and detailed knowledge of the Foreign Exchange Trading, their purpose, function, main activities and their regulation.

Discussions and advices will be actively encouraged throughout the sessions which are intended to be interactive. The primary function is to ensure that by completion, all students will be equipped to deal with clients and their requirements and to put into context the services and markets in which they are trading and participating.
